

Who we are

We are a leading company in the production and commercialization of precision components.

Leveraging our experience and the professionalism of our team, we specialize in manufacturing small metal parts with complex geometries and the highest level of precision.

Mission

Our commitment is to support the customer every step of the way, from the initial ideas and sketches through prototyping and production to the delivery of the finished product, ensuring compliance with the highest quality standards at all times.

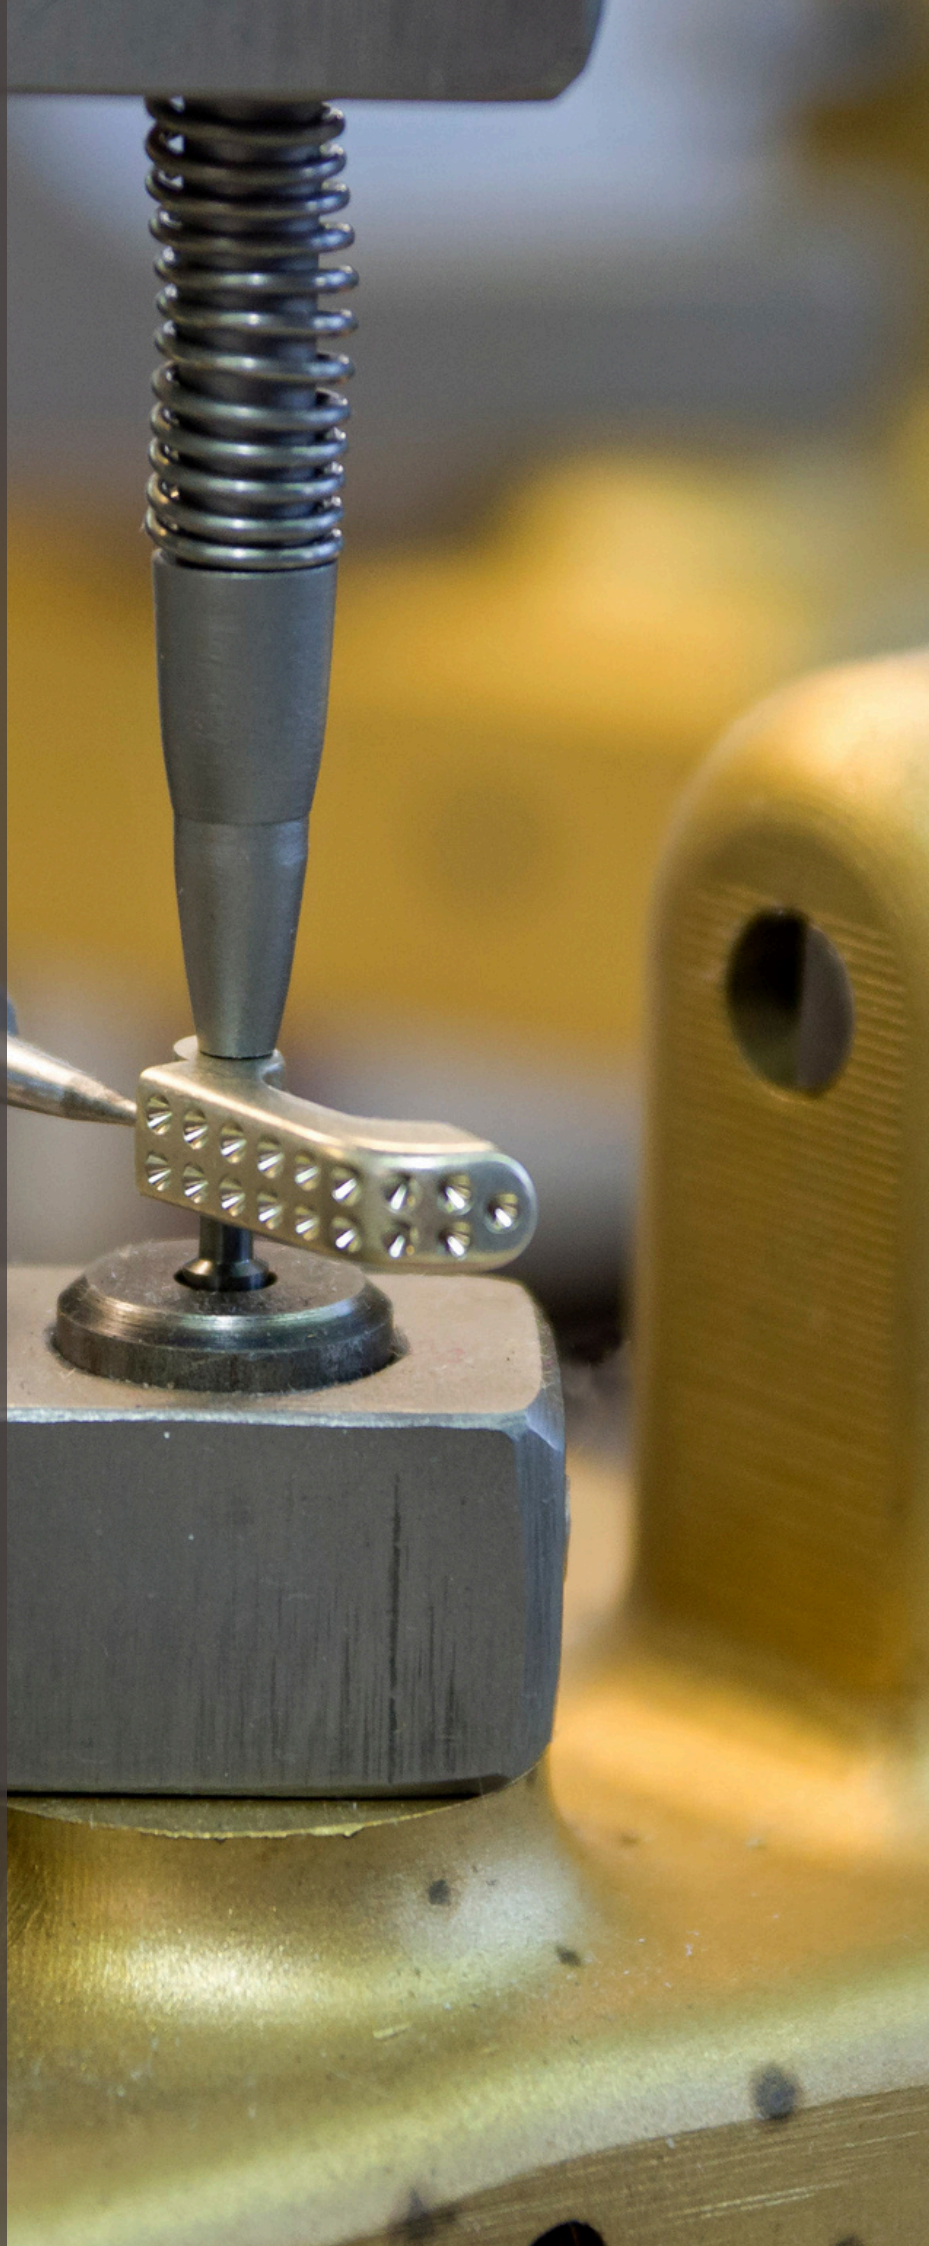

Consulting and Research

Thanks to the use of multiple innovative and versatile technologies, we serve a wide range of industries, including automotive, aerospace, medical, optical, watchmaking, fashion, electronics, and general mechanics.

The extensive design freedom and the variety of materials available provide a significant boost to the development and realization of our customers' ideas.

Our Technologies

- Investment casting of silver, copper, brass, and steel
- CNC milling and mechanical finishing
- Laser welding, spot welding and soldering
- Cold stamping, coining, and trimming
- Laser cutting and material bending
- MIM (Metal Injection Molding) of steel, titanium, and various alloys
- Prototyping service, including 3D printing
- Surface treatments, lapping, cleaning, polishing, and electroplating
- Mold production
- Quality control

Design and Prototyping

The design phase is carried out by a team of highly qualified experts, working in synergy with the client's requirements and the product type.

Thanks to 3D printing, it is possible to generate prototypes in just a few days, from which the first samples will be developed.

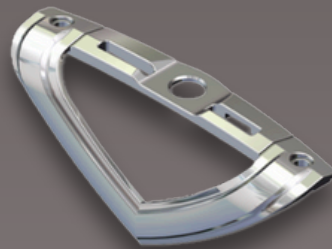

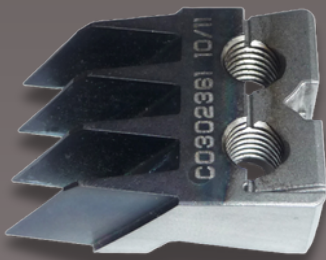

We focus on the development of innovative and practical solutions to respond flexibly to our clients' needs.
